2015 Corra Tail Feathers

As a young girl my favorite springtime activity was to run through the blossoming pear orchards of Southern Oregon, collecting the wildflowers and wild asparagus spears that grew between the trees while soaking in the mix of floral scents that surrounded me. With Tail Feathers, I have endeavored to recreate this experience in a bright, fresh, floral-driven blend of white varieties grown along the banks of the Rogue River in Southern Oregon.

This unusual blend combines Viognier, Muscat, and Riesling in a light, crisp, aroma-driven white wine that throws away tradition and creates something entirely new-world. Try pairing this with Asian or fusion cuisine, salads or seafood starters, or just enjoy it at the beach.
